Team Deep Dive - Interview with Mike Faul

Join us for an informative conversation with Mike Faul, the Corporate Service Manager for DSW. In this interview, he discusses his 14-year career in the construction industry. With a solid background in custom home construction, Mike's early exposure to the field set the stage for a fulfilling career.

SBP Disaster Housing Course

DSW's Jed Webb successfully completed the SBP Disaster Housing Course in Savannah, GA. Among the graduating class were program directors, construction managers, and disaster recovery leaders representing diverse regions across the country. The collective effort to strengthen programs not only enhances assignments but also expedites the return of citizens to their homes.

1st Annual Christmas Party

DSW North Carolina recently hosted our first annual Christmas Party. It was wonderful to gather all our staff along with their spouses for a bit of fun. Choosing Beary the Hatchet, an axe-throwing company in New Bern, NC, as our venue added an exciting twist to the celebration. Given our competitive nature, it turned out to be a splendid time for all!

Intern Highlight

"Coming into DSW homes for my internship I was both excited and nervous. I really learned to rely on my DSW team when subcontractors would have problems or questions and they would turn to me for an answer."

- Jacob
